

E-Commerce Survey Report

ECC006 — Homework Assignment #10 | Near East University

Prepared by: Fatimah | May 2025

For this assignment I surveyed 20 people — classmates, friends, and some family members — about their online shopping habits. I collected answers mostly through WhatsApp and in person over a few days. The questions covered purchasing behaviour, frequency, age, gender, education level, and favourite websites. Below are all my findings with charts and comments.

a. & b. — Who has purchased or shopped online?

The one person who never shopped online was a man in his 50s — he said he doesn't feel safe entering his bank card details on websites. The 2 who browsed but didn't buy said they prefer to physically see products first.

Purchase Status — All 20 Respondents	Percentage Breakdown Purchased online85% — 17 people Browsed, didn't buy10% — 2 people
---	---

	Never shopped online 5% — 1 person
--	------------------------------------

c. — How often do they purchase online?

Asked only to the 17 people who have purchased online before.

Purchase Frequency (17 buyers)	Breakdown
	Once a week 5 people — 29%
	Once a month 8 people — 47%
	Once a year 4 people — 24%
	Most people shop once a month. The weekly shoppers were almost all under 30.

d. — Age Range

Age Distribution	Age vs. Online Purchase Rate
	18–25 (8 people) — all purchased 100%
	26–39 (6 people) — all purchased 100%
	40–50 (4 people) — 2 purchased 50%
	Over 50 (2 people) — 1 purchased 50%

e. — Gender

Gender Split	Notes Female — 11 people55% Male — 9 people45% 10 of 11 females purchased online (91%) vs 7 of 9 males (78%). Female respondents also tended to shop more frequently, especially for fashion on Shein.
---	---

f. — Education Level

Education Distribution	Purchase Rate by Education Graduate School (4) — all bought100% College Graduate (7) — all bought100% Some College (6) — 5 bought83% High School (3) — only 1 bought33%
---	--

g. — Favourite Online Shopping Sites

Most Popular Sites (17 buyers)	Rankings
---	---

	1 Amazon 8 votes 2 Shein 4 votes 3 Noon 3 votes 4 eBay 2 votes 5 AliExpress 1 vote 6 Trendyol 1 vote Amazon was the clear winner. Noon and Trendyol appeared because many respondents are from the Middle East / Cyprus area.
--	--

Full Survey Data

#	Age Group	Gender	Education	Purchased?	Frequency	Fav. Site
1	18–25	Female	Some College	Yes	Weekly	Shein
2	18–25	Male	Some College	Yes	Monthly	Amazon
3	18–25	Female	College Grad	Yes	Weekly	Amazon
4	18–25	Male	Some College	Yes	Monthly	AliExpress
5	18–25	Female	College Grad	Yes	Weekly	Shein
6	18–25	Male	Some College	Yes	Yearly	eBay
7	18–25	Female	Some College	Yes	Monthly	Amazon
8	18–25	Male	High School	Yes	Yearly	Amazon
9	26–39	Female	Graduate School	Yes	Weekly	Amazon
10	26–39	Male	College Grad	Yes	Monthly	Amazon

11	26–39	Female	Graduate School	Yes	Monthly	Noon
12	26–39	Male	College Grad	Yes	Monthly	Amazon
13	26–39	Female	Graduate School	Yes	Weekly	Trendyol
14	26–39	Male	College Grad	Yes	Monthly	eBay
15	40–50	Female	College Grad	Yes	Yearly	Amazon
16	40–50	Male	High School	Browsed only	—	Noon
17	40–50	Female	Graduate School	Yes	Monthly	Amazon
18	40–50	Male	Some College	Browsed only	—	Noon
19	Over 50	Female	College Grad	Yes	Yearly	Shein
20	Over 50	Male	High School	Never	—	None

Supporting Research & Statistics

Key numbers from Pew Internet, eMarketer, and E-Commerce Times

2.77B

$6.9T

63%

Comments and Conclusions

1. Online shopping is very common now

85% of the people I asked have bought something online before. This was slightly higher than I expected. It shows that e-commerce is no longer only for young or tech-savvy people — it has become normal for most people. The Pew Internet Project confirms this trend globally.

2. Younger people shop much more frequently

Everyone under 40 in my survey had made an online purchase. For the 40+ group it dropped to 50%. The weekly shoppers were almost all under 25. This makes sense because this generation grew up with smartphones and is comfortable buying online without hesitation.

Source: eMarketer — emarketer.com/Articles

3. Amazon is #1 and it's not even close

8 out of 17 buyers said Amazon is their favourite — nearly half. Amazon has everything, fast delivery, easy returns, and most people already have an account. Shein came second with 4 votes, mainly from young female students buying clothes.

Source: E-Commerce Times — ecommercetimes.com

4. Education level is connected to online shopping

All respondents with a college degree or higher had purchased online. Only 1 of 3 high school respondents had done so. Higher education usually comes with more digital confidence — people are more comfortable using websites and entering payment info.

Source: Pew Internet Project — pewinternet.org

5. Trust is the main reason people don't buy online

The 3 people who hadn't completed a purchase all mentioned trust — either fear of online payments or wanting to physically see products first. ClickZ reports that improvements in buyer protection and easy return policies have been key to growing e-commerce adoption.

